Sirius

Sunón

45°

Louvre and Pyramid,
Washington National Gallery of Art,
Suzhou Museum,
Mr. Leoh Ming Pei creates architectures of 45° angles, and has made them classic masterpiece.
Sirius, presents office space with 45° angles,
and endows the workplace with more connotations.

Executive space

Sirius, styled with special internal tangent of 45° and mellow woods being the carrier, presents a concise shape and a mild hue.
It is the composedness and wisdom after experiencing the world, and the quality of staying kind and gentle despite of great success and fame.

Calm and Outstanding

The dark color that adds a sense of steadiness and calmness to the space, the large-size office desk, the file cabinet which has both storage and display functions, those light and comfortable sofas and the tea table for negotiation. The small multi-functional meeting room partitioned by a handy screen, which ensures privacy of office working and meeting. Sirius creates not only a philosophy of organized office, but also a calm and composed working attitude.

New Type of Side Desk Stand or Sit as You Like

Carrying the concept of 45° internal tangent of the master desk, the wood grain now is inclined and dynamic. The rigid office mode is now challenged. The height-adjustable side desk extends the office space, and enables the free switch of working location and posture. Sirius defends healthy working style in a more flexible way.

Sirius, Creates a Light Business Space

With straight lines and light colors, it builds up a more concise and brighter light business atmosphere. Working, meeting and communication shall all be conducted in a brisk and efficient space. Sirius, for better office environment.

Office space of modern managers is increasingly diversified and Sirius can meet various kinds of office demands. In terms of function, it is equipped with multiple cabinet collections, including side cabinets and drawers, to add more storage spaces for individual items. The design is smooth, neat and well-organized, which makes it easy to put in and take out items.

360° Well-arranged Space

Lighting from both outside and inside prolongs the depth of field, and makes the space look much larger. It respects the privacy of individual space, and also enhances the convenience of communication.

Working space

Power of Teams

Sirius provides classic staff office desks, which is concise in shape and reasonable in function setting. A space that is warm and organized, and a team that is collaborative and passionate together will always surprise us with the most efficient team work, and inject new momentum into office working.

The combination of freestanding desk and extended desk makes it easy to switch between independent working and group communication. This is what we call as 1+1>2.

Simplicity, the Working Spirit

We always want too much nowadays.
When we see work as work itself,
a spacious and organized office will always help to save us from unnecessary steps, and provide us with more possibilities of convenient communication.
Working hard doesn't mean we cannot make subtraction.

Meeting space

Rhythm of Meetings

Extension of 45° aesthetics; consecutive interpretation of lines and spaces;
it flows, it pauses, it then turns and spreads.
The beautiful rhythm builds up a meeting atmosphere that could be either serious or lively.

The U-shaped meeting space shows the beauty of 45°.

Harmony of Circles

Straight and curvy, circle and harmony.
That's been advocated by Chinese saints in practice.
The circular meeting space
inherits the Confucian spirit lasting for thousands of years.

Charm of Straight Lines

For small-scale meetings, we need to be accurate and efficient. Those neat straight lines highlight the tenet of small meetings. The double-sided flap cable box makes the use of electronic products more convenient, which conforms to the spirit of modern meetings.

The concise tea table with 45°-inclined steel legs is exquisite and small, suitable for instant meeting with guests.
